Salt Lake Grants Interurban Franchise.

Work on Road to Link Payson and Brigham City Will Start in Thirty Days.

Construction work on the proposed interurban line between Salt Lake and Payson, which is to connect the Bannock line at Salt Lake and the Eccles line at Ogden and complete an electric road from Payson to Brigham City, is to commence within thirty days.

This was the announcement made yesterday by promoters and published in the Salt Lake papers immediately after a franchise ordinance had been passed by the city commission granting the company right of way over Salt Lake streets.

During the day a contract was signed by the company with A. J. Orem & Co. of New York and Salt Lake to finance the project. The financiers agreed to furnish $2,000,000 as needed to carry on construction of the road. The road will be laid from this end southward.

The franchise for the company was finally whittled into shape and passed. The vote was four in favor of the measure to one against. The negative vote was cast by the commissioner of finance, who holds the city should have the right ultimately to purchase the concern.

The route of the interurban line is from the city limits north on First west street to the north side of North Temple street, thence over the tracks of the Utah Light & Railroad company east on North Temple to West Temple, thence south on West Temple to Fourth South, thence west to a connection with the main line at First West street.

The company has sixty days to accept the franchise in writing and ninety days to commence work. The franchise runs until Jan., 1912.

Timber Day Celebration Will Be Like Old Times.

The "Timber Day" celebration is to be held in the old saw mill on Monday, when the old times will be repeated.

Entering heart and soul into the celebration and from the present outlook the Fourth ward's pretty park will have one of the largest crowds of American Fork people, that have been gathered together in years.

The American Fork Silver band will furnish inspiring music throughout the day, while the committee are also arranging to have another band, a burlesque organization, which will furnish much amusement.

Those in charge want to impress upon every one, the importance of coming early. They will begin the day's "dodging" soon after nine o'clock and they want every one out to enjoy the fun and work up an appetite for the picnic at noon hour.

The committee on sports have a full bill-of-fare of races, including events for children of all ages, fat men's races, fat women's race, sack races, double-man race, ladies relay race, free-for-all 100 yard dash, 220 yard race for young men. One of the feature races is for men over 70 years, in this Wm. P. Webb challenges the town.

High jump, walking contest, ladies' nail driving contest, and ladies' sawing contest are among the sporting events. Indoor baseball, between the base ball team and firemen is another special good number.

Prizes will be given for all events, and everything will be free to all. No admissions will be charged.

The committee on refreshments will be on the grounds with numerous nice things to tempt the crowds, and a will be in reach of the nickels and dimes.

Come out early—bring the picnic and a pleasant disposition, prepared to have a good time—you will not be disappointed.

Thomas Martin, A. B., Secures Big Horn Academy Principalship

The Academy is a church school, where high school courses are taught up to the third year. The school accommodates about one hundred and fifty students and has a modern equipment. Mr. Martin will have an able corps of teachers to work under him. Mr. and Mrs. Martin expect to leave for their new home next Wednesday.

Ferocious Disease Among Cattle.

Provo, Aug. 28—Dr. J. C. McGarry, deputy state veterinarian, has returned from Payson, where he went to investigate a case of animal anthrax. He reports one cow as succumbing to the disease and others being infected. Dr. McGarry instructed Payson people to kill and destroy all animals suffering from the disease, as it is communicable to human beings and dangerous.

Giant Cap Explodes Destroys One Eye.

Willie, five-year-old son of Mrs. Ida Pulley Shelton had a very close call to losing both eyes, when he exploded a giant cap by hitting it with a rock last Saturday.

The little fellow with another playmate knew of the explosives being in the barn, where he had been warned against them several months ago. The boys climbed up somehow and secured them, and placing them in their pockets went down the street about a block, when young Shelton lay one of the caps down and struck it with a rock. He was leaning over it when it exploded. He received the full force of the explosion in the face. A doctor was summoned as soon as possible and found that the one eye was entirely destroyed and that from all appearances the other one was also destroyed.

As soon as could be arranged the little sufferer was taken to Salt Lake City, where he could get the best medical attention in a hospital.

He was taken up in M. O. Randolph's auto, accompanied by his grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Pulley. After a careful examination under the x-ray the welcome news was phoned to the awaiting mother, that he would have the use of one eye.

He has done fine in the hospital, a little hero with the nurses and other patients, and will soon be able to be brought home.

Uncle Jesse Knight Building Store Coal Camp

The erection of between forty and fifty cottages for the use of the miners at the Knight coal camp are contemplated. J. E. Allen, an architect has designed the laying out of these houses for the men employed at the terminal of Uncle Jesse Knight's five mile road from Helper. Work on these buildings will be started in the near future.

The present plans are for cottages of four rooms, a bath and other modern conveniences. The construction work will be completed and all the cottages will be exactly alike.

Storrs has been the name given the new coal camp. This was given in honor of George A. Storrs, general manager of the Knight coal project, and who is associated with Mr. Knight in the business.

The erection of the houses will be pushed, as it is the intention to have them all completed for the housing of the miners before the snow flies. At present only tents are being used. It is necessary that this work be done to provide quarters for the miners during the winter. The weather becomes extremely cold in the vicinity of the camp during the winter months.

A large six room office is now being erected by the Knight company at the junction of the Knight railroad and the Denver & Rio Grande. This office will accommodate the men employed on the railroad as well as provide an office for the transaction of business between the two railroads.

Mr. Knight now has a large force of men employed in the mines and upon the railroad.—Deseret News.

State Fair Notes.

Secretary Ensign says that when patrons go to the Utah State Fair this year they will not need to stand in line to buy tickets and will save time if they have plenty of change in their pockets. Coin-controlled turnstiles will be used again this season at all the outside entrances.

It will be impossible to get through the gates without dropping the proper coin into the slot. There will be "change booths" outside of and close to the gates, at which the right denomination can be secured but the man who has a few loose quarters and half dollars when he starts for the Fair Grounds will make better headway than the one who has to "line up" for change.

If present plans of the police department and other city officials are carried out as intended, there shall be no beggars, vagrants or suspicious looking characters allowed to roam at large during State Fair week.

Plans are already near completion for giving excellent police protection to fair patrons and to the residents of Salt Lake, and doubtless a system to get all the vagrants either in jail or out of the city will be in effect for the time being. Every bum or person without visible means of support who shows his unentertainment about Salt Lake at fair time will be thrown in jail. Chief of Police Grant with his aids, mean to make Salt Lake thoroughly clean for fair week.

NOTICE

During my absence for one month, city quarantine work will please report to Dr. J. F. Noyes.

PROMINENT CITIZEN CALLED.

The sudden death of William H. Stewart at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday, came as a great shock to the people of this community, as Mr. Stewart had been in his usual health and was attending to his work as usual only the previous day. Death was caused through an acute attack of indigestion.

As a member of the ward and a citizen of Pleasant Grove, deceased has stood back of the authorities in their various moves to progress and betterment and was one of the early ones to realize the value of our soil and climate for growing better fruits, which he had two fine orchards. At time of his death the family were pleasantly settled in a comfortable, modern home, and he was looking forward to enjoying the fruits of his arduous labors of the past thirty years.

One of the heaviest rain storms of the season visited here Tuesday. There was no damage other than coloring up the water for a few hours.

The Relief Society of Manila ward surprised Mrs. Peter Johnson one of their members Friday afternoon. A good time is reported.

Utah's Sons Making Good.

From the men trained in Utah Colleges the native State is receiving continual praise and these men are doing more than any other factor to make Utah a most honored State, counteracting in deeds stronger than words the perfidious effluvia continually arising from the yellow press of the country. The Utah Agricultural College alone has sent constructive citizens into ten states of the Union, and into many federal offices at Washington, who are leaders in the agricultural industry of these states. They are experts, foresters, reclamation engineers, irrigationists, agronomists, animal husbandmen, and investigators and managers in crop production and day-farming. Into the states of Kansas, Montana, Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming, Nebraska, California, Minnesota, Missouri, and New York, she has sent such men. In the United States Department of Agriculture, Utah trained men are gradually foregoing to leadership and in their fine work are building a veritable monument to the State's great citizenship. They are all champions of the dignity of intelligent labor which is in reality the heritage of Utah.

The state needs no other defenders than these men. The example of their lives is a final argument.

The following state ticket was elected at the Democratic state convention at Salt Lake on Thursday.

Roosevelt Suits Both Sides.

Here is a sample of the political minds of the people of Utah, being extracts of a conversation on the train while going to Provo to attend principals and trustees meeting recently:

Prominent citizen of American Fork—"I have voted the Democratic ticket all my life, but Roosevelt is a good enough Democrat for me."

Prominent educator of Pleasant Grove—"I have voted the Republican ticket all my life, and Roosevelt is a good enough Republican for me."

Each of these men are broad, liberal minded, and or also students who have studied the political question for years, and they see the great wave of political unrest through our broad land, which says in plain language, the day of the big interests, the invisible government of Wall street as opposed to that of the common people is at an end.

Call For A Vote.

If any of the citizens of American Fork doubt as to which is the popular presidential candidate, here is a good test: The next time a large number of men are gathered call for a vote. The writer has seen this tried on several occasions and invariably Roosevelt is first with Wilson second, while even among old line Republicans the supporters of President Taft are in the small minority.

In talking with a prominent Republican and a leading business man of Lahi on Wednesday, when asked what was the political outlook there, said, Roosevelt could carry Lahi if there was only some one to take hold and lead out, as it appeared to him nearly every one favored the Progressive party.

Operating Pig in New Field.

Provo, Aug. 23.—Henry Vincent, Theo. Nicholas and Robert Johnson were arrested at Colton yesterday after a brisk fight with Sheriff George T. Judd and Deputy Sheriff Bachman. They are charged with running a "blind pig." All three men resisted arrest, but were finally subdued. Henry Flaggnier interfered with the officers and was arrested. Vincent, Nicholas and Johnson were held in $500 bonds each today. Flaggnier was fined $5.—Herald Republican.

Three Year Law Course In University of Utah.

Opportunity to do the full three years work in law of the regular law school course is one of the latest advantages provided by the State University.

A two-year course has been in operation for some time. The expansion of the work into three years is the result of a petition of the law students to the Regents. The petition was granted earlier in the summer, and the work as expanded is announced in detail in a bulletin which is just now being distributed from the University.

The three years of work in law lead to the degree of LL. B. provided the student has had at least an additional year of regular college study. By this condition the degree is safe guarded so that no one may obtain it for Yale, or four years of college work, survey, three men were registered in 1910, work last year. Under the new regulations the registration will doubtless increase considerably.
